Charles Russel Stosel aged 17 years ind son of Charles E. Stasel of 406 day afternoon between two and three o'clock near the junction of the Lick ing river and the Quarry Run.

Stasel left his home about one o'clock saying he was going fishing. Two other men Edward Parker a B & O brakeman and John Vestch were also fishing along the bank and asked Sta-sel to watch their poles while they went home for their lunch, according to information received at the Parker home. As they were returning two boys Charles Glassmeier and Rollin Woolard ran to them and told them that Stasel had been drowned.

Young Glassmeier stated to the Ac vocate this morning: 'Rollin and were fishing a little farther up the bank and Stasel was in swimming We heard him call—'Help me' Help me' and he went under twice but we thought he was fooling us. When he went down again we went in after him but the water was over our heads and we could not find him. We then went for help and met the two man who took him out of the water.

HEALTH INSURANCE ON WAY

Many Reasons for Assuming That the Mation is About Ready to Take Important Step.

It is only fair to assume that our country is steadily moving in the direction of compulsory sickness or health insurance. The reasons for this assumption are many, but among the most important are the following: (1) The force of the example of England and of eight other European countries with whose social insurance laws the people of this country are rapidly becoming familiar; (2) the general favor with which the proposed legislation is regarded by the extremely acrkers in the United States; (3) the distinguishment of no less than eight commissions to investigate health and (4) the support of the movement by numerous public health administrators and experts; (5) the gradual but irresistible swing of organized labor from perposition to support; (6) the present Supathetic attitude of the leading podiffical parties toward the demands of labor; (7) the willingness of labor, ofscially expressed through state labor rederations, to assume half the cost of the proposed insurance, and (8) the readiness of various state legislatures to act upon social reform measures swhich do not threaten to add to the droubles of the everburdened taxpaper and incidentally to those of the legis-

A Sacred Tooth.

There's a sacred tooth in the world; M's in Kandy. And when you come to think of it that is a perfectly natural place for a tooth to be. It is in the temple of Kandy, in Ceylon, where reposes the sacred tooth of Buildha. At Buddha's death there were 80 cities to dispute the possession of his remains. At length they decided on a compromise, so the body was divided: and the isle of Ceylon fell beir to his tooth and his left collamone. At the time of the funeral Kalinga, an Indian, took possession of the sacred tooth and had it eashrined at Puro, where it reposed for eight years. Then come an invasion of the country by the Mohammedans. The daughter of a certain king concealed the sacred relici in her hale and carried it to Ceylon, where it has remained since A. D. 911.

Back somewhere in the days of every man for himself, a man dreamed. He imagined a co-operative force at work to build a city. He knew the futility of single-handed effort--he realized that a city could only be built by men--men with--PURPOSE--VISION--DETER-MINATION.

From this vision a plan evolved -- MANY MEN MUST UNITE to do what one, or even a few, could not accomplish alone. Their efforts must be fixed on a single object--THE ENERGIZING OF THEIR CITY.

Hence, came a Chamber of Commerce. It appeared as a result-not as a creation. Its task was laid out and it was born to meet it.

To an Enlarged Chamber of Commerce will be -- must be -- entrusted Newark's future. IF YOU BELIEVE IN YOUR CITY YOU MUST SHARE IN THE SHAPING OF ITS FUTURE. You must play the part of a man, by working through organized effort. You owe it to yourself--to your neighbor--to your city--to bear the responsibility of citizenship.

The kind of a Chamber of Commerce that Newark needs, then, is one with--

MILLINONS OF LOST YEARS

The ominous signs of unrest. apparent in our country today, warn us to take prompt measures for safe guarding its future. . Experts are carefully studying the various ways o Americanizing the alien, and many conferences are being held to discus means to this end.

In solving the problem, one of the most important questions to be considered is the early training of the na tion's children. What they learn to day they will put into practice tomor row. It is for us to determine wheth er they shall become an asset or :

We should remember that "An ounc of prevention is worth a pound o cure," and provide kindergartens to develop the children of our untrainealien population into honest, law abiding citizens. Only one child is eight of kindergarten age now re ceives the training to which all arentitled. There remain 3,800,000 neglected little ones who are denied this privilege. The kindergarten trains children is efficiency, mortality and patriotism. I renders a valuable service to the nation as well, for during the period of reconstruction there is need of the finest qualities among our citizens, to looking for inspiration and guidance.

Assistance may be obtained in secur ing new kindergarten classes by acdressing the Kindergarten director of the United States Board of Education and the National Kindergatten Association, both located at 5 West 400 street. New York.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.) Just as the country began to recover omewhat from the rude shocks of war and hoped soon to resum esome of the .ormal habits of life, the distressing iews comes that a theatrical strike is reatened as a sort of cap sheaf to a ar troubles. A meeting in New he other day of the Actors' Equity as ociation, representing 90 per cent of he famous men and women of the tage, came perilously near a "walkut" on the producing managers. The uestion at issue is the refusal of prousing managers to accept the terms of he new contract demanded by the asociation for the coming season. Conervative members of the organization nally checked the storm by a comprorise resolution to submit the points at sue to aroitration. Thus, temporarily ne storm is averted.

The actors demand full payment for Il extra performances object to Sunay work and ask that benefit performnces be taxed 10 per cent for Equity ssociation tunds. There are other difrences of long standing, such as tages, pay for rehearsals, etc. There no disposition on the part of either ide to back down, and unless arbitra-on extends its aid, the amusementceking public may next season find it elf in a pretty pickle. Such distin-uished players as E. H. Up to the time Woolworth was st or 29 years old, his success in life was exceedingly limited. He had never been able to advance beyond the position of a clerk in a small store, working on a very limited salary. For a number of years, in fact, he was not able to carn any money whatever, and one can scarcely imagine a young man storting out in life under more discouraging circumstances than

His early years were a series of failures. He seemed incopable even of self-support. Whatever he attempted apparently bore the blight of bad luck. For more than twelve years he fought a losing fight against overwhelming discouragements. During all those early years, fail-are seemed to be Woolworth's unmistakable destiny, and the only apparent question was how after and complete would his failure be.

But he spent his time in no idle

Every young employment, he formed no bad habits, and in America he lived wholesomely, and out of his exceedingly meagre income he savman in America should be fa-ed a small amount of money. But in the heart of the young man there were dreams and ambitions and a grim determination to succeed.

Notwithstanding the constant blows that fate administered, Woolworth cherished the determination to become a great and successful merchant some day. He knew well the truth of Abraham Lincoln's words: "Get ready and the chance will come."

Woolworth's chance came when his employers offered to back him in a ten-cent store. They had tried the experiment of running a ten-cent de-partment, and it had proved so suc-cessful that Woolworth felt sure a ten-cent store would be a paying ven-ture. Thus it was the habits of this man, founded on thrift, gave him the chance to rise from obscurity. His careful methods of living, his honesty and frugality, had given his employers confidence in him so that they were willing to back him in his first bustness venture.

At the time of his death, Woolworth was the head of a $65,000,000 corporation, owning 1,000 stores and employing more than 30,000 clerks. Several years ago he conceived the idea of building a great office building in New York. It is the highest structure in the United States and is the loftiest work of man aside from the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

It stands in lower New York, & worthy monument to a great man who, succeeded because he laid the founds. tion of his success in thrift.

DOCTOR CALLS NEW DANCES AND GOWNS IMMORAL SYMPTOMS

Dr. Plorence N. Richards.

Dr. Florence N. Richards, medical director of the William Penn High School for Girls in Philadelphia, spoke recently on social problems at the State Federation of Women's Clubs of New Jersey. She shocked and considerably irritated her listeners by confining her remarks almost exclusively to a condemnation of current styles of women's dress. She stated that mothers should be punished who let their daughters wear gowns that expose the shoulders and that spooning, the new dances, the bathing suits and the decollete gown are symptoms of an immoral era.

Edith Burrows Mackay. Edith Burrows Mackay was born in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, February 14, 1876, in the old Mackay home where her aunt. Miss Annie Mackay, to whom she owed much of her early training and education, still lives. An uncle, Mr. John Mackay and a rousin. Miss Fairchild, are also living it Her mother, now living near Wash ington, D. C., and other relatives here survive her.

Most of Miss Mackay's life was spent in Newark where very happy years were passed in the home of her friend, Miss Wotring.

After graduating she taught for some cars in the public schools. Her influnce in the schools was strong and upitting to the pupils and warm friend hips were formed among the teachers. This was evidenced by the flag on the Voodside building (where she taught) eath and the teachers of that building ssembling the children under it and alking to them of her beautiful life. For the past eight years she had bee

NOTHING SACRED TO YANKS

Ancient Edifices, With Their Historic Memories, Have No Power to Overawe American Soldiers.

You can't awe a Yank. You can feast his eye and his mind on history and castles and things that are so old they are sacred. But you can't awe him, Stephen Doughton writes in Chamberlain's. You can, as has been done, for instance, take him to Warwick castle and show him the moat, the portcullis. Caesar's tower and wonders that date from 900 A. D. Then when he sees the broad rampart on the castle wall he thinks what a fine place it would be to dance, and he does,

Recently a hundred Yanks on leave in England made a two-day tour. They played baseball at the home of the late William Shake-pare, Stratfordon-Avon; visited Leamington Spa. Coventry. Warwick castle and the ruins of the famous Kenilworth castle. at Warwick-think of it, peanuts at sacred Warwick.

But lest the Yanks be falsely ac cused of carrying peanuts to Warwick let it be noted that Harry Gordon Selfridge, a former Chicagoan, now a department store man in London, sent up 50 pounds of the delectable goobers just to make the lovs feel at home while gailivanting about the castle's moats and ramparts and towers and

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM. "The Better 'Ole." "The happiest stroke of inspiration during the war was the creation of Old Bill. The British army is the most good natured in the world and is amused at itself as the army of no other nation could be. 'Old Bill' is brave without knowing it—he is rather bored with the necessity of being brave. The walrus moustache of the grumbling warrior, which is the perfect physical expression of his comic philisophy, has given genuine delight in picture and play, and now in picture-play. To the droll indomitability of the central figure are added the cockney characters of Alf and Bert, and a simple, moving tomance, cast in typical army scenes is built around these inseparable modern ount around these inseparable modern 'muskateers.' The film makes these men, with their unflinching valor and unfalling humor, live It is full of vivid flashes and spirit."

This feature delighted hundreds yes terday and will be shown tonight for the last times. Pathe News and Billy Church are added features.

"Blind Man's Eyes."

A picture of arresting achievement, "Blind Man's Eyes," in which Bert Lytell is starred, is seen tomorrow, Sunday, at the Auditorium. This popular young actor, who has shot, meteorlike, into the zenith of tune, plays a role which bulger out in a semestable like, into the zenith of fame, plays a role which brings out in a remarkable manner his unusual skill in both heavy emotional drama and light and sympathetic comedy. He is seen in the character of Hugh Overton, a man falsely accused of a crime committed by another. How this is the means of all most completely greatly the title. most completely wrecking his life and of those dear to him is dramatically shown as is also his manner of unerthing and bringing to justice the real criminal. A refreshing contrast is given in the cleverly introduced sym-pathetic comedy which is done in the actor's happiest vein while a heart-gripping romance lends to the charm and uneasiness of the play.

A comedy, "Frenzied Film," Billy
Church and The Pathe News are added

"When a Girl Loves."
Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin will Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin will pay a visit to Newark for three days, beginning next Monday, when they will both be screened at the Auditorium theatre. Charlie, clever fun-maker, will be seen in "The Bank"—one of his biggest hits, revived and rejuvenated, and Mrs. Chaplin (Mikhred Harris) will be screened in her latest Jewel Production, "When a Girl Loves." The leading players who support her are Wharton Jones, William Stowell, Alfred Pagent, Willie Marks, &c. The story is good and tells of:

and tells of:

"Eagle" Ryan, leader of a band of outlaws and an atheist, plots to steal a $50,000 "button"—a lump of gold which represents the work of months at the gold mine at Oatman, and which soon is to be shipped East. He learns that Wiatt, express agent at Oatman, is to be replaced by a new agent, an Eastern minister who is coming West to the backton. tor his health.

Ryan, posing as Wlatt, boards a train at a water tank and meets the minister ister Bent Grant, a bully, rules the town, which is rotten with corruption He insults Ryan and is properly whip ped for it in a terrific struggle. The "minister" becomes popular. When he goes to a cahin set aside for him, however, he tears off the minister's garb. becomes his old self again and openly GRAND defies God, if there is one, to mas him. Ryan had promised to preach sermon in the saloon of the town Sunday. When the time comes he fire defies God, if there is one, to master sermon in the saloon of the town on Sunday. When the time comes he finds himself in the grip of a strange spirit of religious fervor. He preaches with an eloquence that so carries away his hearers that they become wild with en-

The Pathe News, always full of latest World Events is seen Monday also.

"The Midnight Romance." The Auditorium shows next Tuesday and for the three days following Anita Stewart in what is considered one of the best photodramas of the screen, "The Midnight Romance," said to be better than "Virtuous Wives." In the cast with Miss Stewart are seen Jack Holt, Edward Tilton, Elinor Hancock Helen Yoder, Juanita Hansen, Monta gue Dumont. Blinkey Deal and Blondie Maxie were facing a desperate financial drought when an item in the society column of a newspaper offered a suggestion. The paragraph read that the summer home of Allen Sloan, the financier, had been destroyed by fire and that the family including his son, Roger, had moved to the Sea Side Hotel, a fashionable society resort. The plotters arrange a scheme to victimize Roger, paying but scan attention to another item to the effect that a number of refugees rescued from a torpedod ocean liner have been landed on the coast and given employment in

One of these refugees has obtained a position as a chambermaid. The pay roll lists her as Marie Alexander, but it contains no reference to her velvet soft hands, her perfect forms of speech and her almost regal carriage. She is assigned to the floor on which the Sloans occupy a suite. The day fol lowing their arrival an adjoining suite s occupied by Mazie and a woman who registers as her mother Mazie begins her campaign by con vincing Roger that they had previously met at a smart function. She does not find it difficult to begin a flirtition, and when Blinkey arrives at the hotel she pretends he is a wealthy suitor.

But all of Maxie's progress become alueless when Roger meets a surprisingly beautiful girl in bathing at mid hight. A series of midnight teteraters, follow, but he falls to learn her name Three new guests, two men and a coman, arrive at the hotel, and cause Marke great consternation. She harely racapes being men by them

Hearing that the Sloans plan to leave the hotel within a couple of days Masie becomes desperate in her determination to compromise Roger in some way an that he will be an east previor black mail. She orders an elaborate new cown to wear at the Saturday night dance, and goes into town to finish up a little 'joh" to pay for it. She leaves the gown in the closet, where Mare

NEWARK NEEDS MORE HOMES

NEWARK is cramped now for lack of available homes. We must turn people back from the gates of our city, because we have not sufficient places to house them. To the man who says: "I want to produce. I want to contribute, I want to share with you," must we answer "MOVE ON-WE HAVE A HOME SHORTAGE HERE?" As he passes on, we all lose.

Industries who would locate will ask the question: What are your housing accommodations? The Ohio Cities Gas Co. now fear that their Betinery will be handicapped, because of the lack of homes in Newark.

IF WE BUILD NOW we accomplish four objects:

1. We care for the present lack of homes and pave the # will be glad to stay, if the surroundings are pleasant. way for new industries.

2. We keep orders in the factories, which hire workmen and thus keep the labor situation from becoming acute. Construction is the easiest way to keep all factories working full

3. We beautify the cli . There are many barren spots in Newark that could be transformed into lovely homes—and better homes make better citizens.

1. Keep our citizens here—and the returning soldiers

MATERIALS are available for building now. Lumber is to be had. There is plenty of brick: plumbers are stocked with supplies: vacant plots are selling reasonably. For the first time in years there is sufficient labor. Railroads are making deliveries on quick notice. What an opportunity-just what you have waited for all your life. This is your chance.

Presiding Elder

Feels Ten Years Younger

Rev. W. H. J. Powell, presiding elder of the Fordyce District West Arkansas Conference, Camden, Arkansas, says "one of my parishioners recommended Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Tablets to me and I thank God I found this remedy for I really believe I should have died had I not found it. My strength has been restored and I feel ten years younger. Before I used Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Tablets, used to be so weak, at times I had to hold on to the pulpit while deliver-ing my sermons. There were nights when the slightest noise would awaken me as the closing of a door or the flap-ping of a window shade. I was nervous, had lost control of my howels, and sometimes it seemed as though there was no feeling in my lower limbs."

Granville, May 31.—The public per formance of the Masque, "In Time's Barden." on Denison campus, called out a large crowd of delighted spec tators Friday evening. The concensus of opinion is that this is a splendid composition. It is the symbolic epitome of the span of life, childhood, youth, manhood, and old age, presented in a series of exquisite pictures. The music composed by Prof. K. H. Eschman for the chorus of Women's voices, for All Fourth ward women are invited plane and for the orchestra of 30 to meet next Monday, June 2, at 4 pieces, gives evidence of tulent. Next Week's Games. Monday— Heisey vs. A. P. Hess. Wednesday—Buckeye vs. Midland.

Yesterday's game was played before small but enthusiastic crowd. The Hess Auto bunch sprung a big surprise with Ertley doing the twirling. Ertley set up a league record by striking out seventeen men of the twenty-eight batteries who faced him during the seven inning game. Noblick who started the slinging for the shoe men allowed five bunched hits in the first inning which resulted in five runs. McCarty relieved Noblick at the betinning of the second inning and kept the Hess nine from scoring during the remainder of the game allowing but sings of work. Klosterman, Hess perfectedly acted. Sunday's Program.

Mgr. Fenberg has prepared a rather pleasing program for his Alhambra patrons, he calls it a cool weather proram, for there is said to be such laughter throughout, the stars are good and the photoplayers are clever. The feature, the Universal six reeler, "The Unpainted Wemin," has as the star Mary MacLaren, who in "Shoes," "Eread," "The Amazing Wife" and others, has made thousands of friends but it is predicted that in this feature

"The Unpainted Wemin," by Sinclair Lewis, well known Saturday Evening Post author, that Miss Mac Laren as Gudrun Yrygavson, that she will create more friends among the movie fans than ever before: Few stories have been more straightfour scattered hits. Rengo-Belt Recucing Corsets

Almost every over stout woman envies the woman with a slender figure. This need not be- for Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets will give to any medium or stout woman the lines of a fashionable figure, by reducing the appearance of flesh over the obdomen, back and hips,

And Rengo Belt Corsets will do this without immediately stretching or loosing their correct lines. These features are made possible by the Rengo abdominal belt and by Rengo materials and Rengo tailoring.

Eight years of constantly growing popularity with medium and stout women attest to the success of Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets,
